Circular Ref. No: 18/2023

All Members and Participants,

Change in Trading Holiday on account of Holiday declared under Negotiable Instrument Act

This is in modification to the NSE circular no. NSE/DS/58632 dated September 27, 2023 regarding change in trading holiday on account of Id-E-Milad.

As per the attached RBI press release dated September 27, 2023, to ensure smooth functioning of the financial markets and non-disruptive settlement of transactions especially in view of the quarter / half year end, it has been decided, in public interest, to keep the Government securities market, foreign exchange market, money market and rupee interest rate derivatives market operational on September 29, 2023 in addition to being operational on September 28, 2023.

In view of the same, the trading holiday on September 29, 2023 declared earlier has been cancelled for Debt segment.

Members and participants are requested to take a note of the same.
